FONTANA FORNI

In 1978, the Fontana brothers built the world's first metal pizza oven in Italy. Thanks to decades of design innovation, you can now experience true luxury with our premium outdoor ovens.

FEATURES AND BENEFITS

Attention Paid to Every Detail

Constructed with the finest materials and expert craftsmanship, this oven is built to withstand the most demanding culinary creations. The bent-steel dome, reinforced with solid-weld construction, ensures durability and longevity. Made with the best stainless steel available, the exterior exudes strength and elegance. Many other brands use lighter, cheaper materials, lower-grade steel, and synthetic insulation, affecting heat retention and durability. Further, Fontana uses all continuous solid-weld in the dome construction of each oven, not the spot welding or screws you may find in some other ovens. We are proud to say, many of the first Fontana wood-fired ovens built in the late 1970s are still in use today.

Whether you're a professional chef or a home cook, this oven is sure to elevate your cooking experience and impress your guests.
